02 | THE NEXT EVOLUTION IN WELLNESS STORYTELLING

Quantum Qi: The Taoist Art of Nurturing Life is an award-winning feature documentary that reimagines ancient Taoist energy practices for a global, modern audience seeking wellness, longevity, and transformation. Bridging 5,000 years of Qigong, Tai Chi, Martial Arts and internal alchemy with cutting-edge science and cinematic storytelling, the film features 28 internationally renowned masters and scholars who reveal how cultivating Qi—the vital life force—can enhance health, resilience, and human potential.

Structured as a two-part journey — Yin: May the Qi be With You and Yang: From Subtle Arts to Martial Arts — the film traces Qi's evolution from ancient healing practices to martial discipline and modern therapeutic application. A luminous musical interlude, The Tao, deepens the narrative, weaving poetry, nature, and Grammy-nominated Jiebing Chen's instrumentation into a meditative cinematic experience.

With its stunning cinematography, immersive original score, and visionary energy animations, Quantum Qi delivers more than a documentary — it is a foundational asset for growth with lasting significance across streaming platforms, wellness networks, and educational ecosystems. Anchored in the $150+ billion wellness economy and engaging over 500 million global practitioners, its cross-market appeal spans wellness, healthcare, spirituality, and education. This positions it as a premium acquisition for streaming platforms, broadcasters, and media partners, as well as wellness leaders, educators, and integrative health organizations seeking timeless, evergreen content with enduring audience engagement, educational impact, and significant spin-off potential.

03 | DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

Quantum Qi: The Taoist Art of Nurturing Life is the culmination of my lifelong devotion to the arts of healing, movement, music, and mystical wisdom. For over four decades, I have immersed myself in the ancient traditions of India, Tibet, Egypt, China, Africa, and the Middle East—weaving Vedic, Chinese, African, and Middle Eastern threads into my artistic vision.

This film was born from a deep desire to help people remember the living energy that flows through all things—what the Taoists call Qi. As director and producer, I journeyed to sacred sites, interviewed 28 master teachers, and collaborated with world class global fusion musicians Beth Quist, Jesse Mano, and James Hoskins along with grammy-nominated virtuoso Jiebing Chen to forge a groundbreaking vibrational score. Together, we created not merely a documentary, but a cinematic transmission of healing and remembrance.

Within this journey flows The Tao, a meditative interlude where Taoist wisdom dances through sound and light. Featuring Chen's soulful erhu with one of the first uses of her zhonghu as a melodic solo instrument, underscored by John P. Milton's Tao Te Ching lyrics, this sequence unfolds like a dream—visuals of flowing nature and graceful Qigong movements summoning meditative bliss and transcending cultural boundaries.

The inspiration for the aerial cinematography of the graceful Qigong and Tai Chi movements came from my many years of filming world dance and integration of performance and video.

With Quantum Qi, I invite you into a sensory field of beauty, stillness, and vitality. My intention is to offer a healing resonance for our time—one that reawakens our connection to nature, to the innate intelligence of the body, and to the Way of the Tao. May this film serve as portal, prayer, and path—a luminous offering from spirit to screen that blends sacred harmonics with modern storytelling for the healing of all beings.

04 | AWARDS & SCREENINGS

Quantum Qi has garnered international acclaim, earning top honors and official selections across prestigious film festivals worldwide. From London to Hong Kong, Paris to Shanghai, the documentary and its companion music video The Tao continue to receive recognition for their visionary storytelling, artistic excellence, and contribution to the global conversation on health, healing, and human potential. Quantum Qi is poised for continued recognition, with new selections and honors anticipated through 2026. For her directorial achievements, Sharron Rose has received recognition as Filmmaker of the Year from the World Congress on Qigong, Tai Chi, TCM, and Natural Healing.

05 | THE TAO: A LUMINOUS SHORT FILM

The Tao is an immersive cinematic interlude from the film Quantum Qi that invites viewers to return to Source, attune to the rhythms of nature, and experience the unchanging essence of the Way. Through poetic narration and exquisite natural imagery, this sensory rich reverie reflects on impermanence, presence, and inner harmony—a tranquil pause within the dynamic flow of Quantum Qi. Inspired by Verse 16 of the Tao Te Ching, The Tao features a luminous translation by nature mystic John P. Milton, paired with the evocative erhu and zhonghu melodies of Grammy-nominated virtuoso Jiebing Chen. Multi-Platinum and Diamond award winner Michael Verdick served as Co-Producer, Sound Engineer, and Mixer for The Tao. Verdick's mastery of sonic architecture brings The Tao's ethereal score to its highest level of clarity, depth, and emotional resonance. Film and Music Producer, Director, and Co-Composer Sharron Rose weaves these elements with serene visuals of flowing nature and graceful Qigong movements into a transformative experience that transcends cultural boundaries.

"I have long been an enthusiastic fan of Jiebing Chen's virtuosic and versatile music. Her erhu playing in Quantum Qi is serene and dreamlike, offering a deep sense of inner peace and strength, and gently leading me into the mysterious, hidden corners of my own heart"

- Joan Chen, Chinese-American Actress and Film Director

07 | TRANSFORMATIONAL SOUND JOURNEY

Building upon the vision of the Soundtrack, Endless Grace - The Tao Meditative Remix expands the film's interlude into a full-length, immersive meditation experience—inviting listeners to journey inward through sound, stillness, and flow.

Created for use across meditation, yoga, Qigong, Tai Chi, spa, and wellness environments, the album offers a scalable, repeatable audio experience that extends the life and impact of the film. It carries forward the same luminous, Taoist-inspired essence that defines Quantum Qi: The Taoist Art of Nurturing Life—translating its philosophy into a musical landscape designed for daily practice and restorative settings.

Commercial Potential for All Music Products:

Target demographics include 30-50 million active meditators worldwide, 200-250 million Qigong/Tai Chi practitioners, spa and wellness industry professionals, world music enthusiasts, and film soundtrack collectors.

08 | DIRECTOR'S BIO 氣

Sharron Rose is an award-winning filmmaker, author, and educator whose four-decade journey through the world's sacred traditions culminates in Quantum Qi: The Taoist Art of Nurturing Life. Named Filmmaker of the Year by the World Congress on Qigong, Tai Chi, TCM, and Natural Healing, she brings unparalleled authenticity and depth to her exploration of ancient wisdom, healing, and human potential through the medium of conscious cinema.

As co-founder of Sacred Mysteries Productions, Sharron has created a wide range of acclaimed documentaries and educational programs on consciousness, world culture, and integrative healing—many featured on Gaia TV. Her award-winning filmography includes 2012: The Odyssey, Infinity: The Ultimate Trip, Healing the Luminous Body with Dr. Alberto Villoldo, and ARTmind with visionary artist Alex Grey. She also produced the feature film The Last Avatar, inspired by ancient Hindu prophecy, establishing herself as a leading voice in spiritual and transformative media.

A graduate of the Peabody Conservatory Preparatory Department and holder of an MA, Ed from George Washington University, Sharron received a Professional Development Grant from the American Institute of Indian Studies and became a Fulbright Senior Research Fellow, which enabled her to become the first American disciple of Bollywood legend and Queen of North Indian Kathak dance, Sitara Devi. She lived traditionally with Sitara in Mumbai, India to absorb her Classical dance and music lineage passed down for millennia. Her immersive studies across India, Tibet, Egypt, China, Africa, and Indigenous traditions fuel her passion for bridging Eastern wisdom with Western audiences and exploring energy cultivation as a path to longevity, vitality, and inner awakening.

Throughout her career, Sharron has integrated cutting-edge media and performance technologies—from pioneering blue-screen video art in the 1980s to today's remote collaboration platforms—while also advancing Qigong education as creator and host of The Shift Network's Qigong Global Summit. She is the author of the COVR Visionary Award-winning book The Path of the Priestess: A Guidebook for Awakening the Divine Feminine and has presented her work at institutions including MIT, Harvard, Columbia University, the Lincoln Centre Library for the Performing Arts and Carnegie Recital Hall. Her educational work includes arts programs for Young Audiences of America and Arts Horizons.

She currently serves on the Research & Education and Web Communications committees for the National Qigong Association and serves as Senior host for the global platform, healingourearth.com.

In Quantum Qi, Sharron unites her lifelong devotion to healing arts, energy cultivation, and cross-cultural storytelling as director, writer, and soundtrack producer—crafting an immersive cinematic experience where sound, movement, and imagery converge to reveal the transformative healing power of Qi.

This Movie is for all Holistic Educators >

As an life-long educator of children, specializing in the Arts and Montessori approaches, I will tell you that this film is relevant and important for a wide audience. Anyone who values the whole child/ whole adult approach to education can benefit from the profound wisdom Sharron Rose has to offer through highlighting the Masters of Qi Cong modalities. Through this film, we are all reminded of our essential connection to Nature and the wisdom of balancing our Inner Chi/Energy consciously, to maximize both our own health and the health of our relationships. I particularly enjoy the uplift of the music in combination with the stunning visuals. I look forward to the sound track to be able to share the message and inspiration with students.

A Healing Masterpiece of Beauty and Wisdom >

Sharron Rose's transformative work radiates throughout this incredible film which I have personally watched more than four times. Quantum Qi: The Taoist Art of Nurturing Life elevates this vision, offering an exquisite 86-minute journey into meditative movement and self-healing. The film's breathtaking aerial visuals and vibrant energy meridian animations showcase 27 Qigong, Tai Chi, and Wushu masters, delivering profound wisdom. Its healing focus, resonated deeply with me . I was also touched by the beauty of the soundtrack and the transformative power of The Tao musical interlude. Quantum Qi is a visually stunning masterpiece that left me uplifted and inspired to embrace Qigong's life enhancing practices. This is essential viewing for anyone seeking harmony and holistic healing.

Modern medical science is finally rediscovering this ancient holistic health and healing wisdom that provides a perfect antidote to the stress, constant change, and challenges of modern life."*

— Tom Rogers, President, Qigong Institute

"This powerful film will change your perception of life! Just watching this film puts you in the qigong state! After watching this film, you will come away changed, possibly transformed into a new way of being!"

— Dr. Gayl Hubatch, OMD, LAc, Wellness Educator

MEDICAL & SCIENTIFIC COMMUNITY

"Quantum Qi speaks equally to the physician, the philosopher, and the seeker. As an orthopaedic surgeon engaged in integrative health care, I was deeply moved by how gracefully it translates Taoist wisdom into living art... In modern medicine we often focus on structural repair, yet here we are reminded that true healing is about restoring coherence across body, mind, and spirit."

— Dr. Anukul Kumar Deb Goswami, Consultant Orthopaedic & Spinal Surgeon, UK

"This documentary is not only a celebration of Qigong, Tai Chi, and Wushu as meditative and self-healing practices but as a timeless contribution to the global dialogue on holistic medicine... I see Quantum Qi as a bridge-maker—a work that expertly expands the understanding of how ancient healing sciences complement and empower one another."

— Vedacharya Dr. Dhanada Kulkarni, Ayurveda, Chinese Medicine, and Integrative Medicine specialist

"Quantum Qi is a beautifully crafted and aesthetically pleasing documentary. The stunning visuals and innovative animations capture the essence of Qigong, Tai Chi, and Wushu in a way that is both artistic and inspiring... As a practitioner of homeopathy, I was struck by the parallel to our own concept of the vital force—the inner energy whose imbalance results in disease, and whose restoration leads to cure. Quantum Qi similarly highlights how energy, when harmonized, can become a powerful force for healing, vitality, and longevity."

— Dr. Mukesh Batra, Padmashri Award recipient (one of India's highest civilian honors) for Homeopathy

"Outstanding integrative approach to linking Chi or Qi to the biophysical aspects of the human energy fields, meridian system. Explains complex philosophical concepts in simple everyday language. The complex connections between body, emotions and the mind and the chi model is particularly intriguing and striking."

— Dr. Sundardas D Annamalay, Physicist, Naturopath, Acupuncturist, Author of Art and Science of Vibrational Medicine

"A masterpiece in illustrating the fundamental connection between Eastern philosophy regarding Qi with the real-world use cases and understanding of quantum mechanics... This film serves as a perfect example of how Qi can be easily understood and experienced from a quantum perspective."

— Kyle Morton, PhD., Engineer/Professor, Colorado Tech University

HEALTH & WELLNESS COMMUNITY

"As a pioneering health tourism promotions agency, we firmly believe that this cinematic masterpiece will galvanize audiences to reimagine the future of healthcare and wellness. We wholeheartedly recommend this film to anyone seeking a profound understanding of the intersection between medicine, wellness, and human flourishing."

— IHTPB - Indonesian Health, Travel Promotion Board

"Quantum Qi is not only an aesthetic masterpiece but also a call to action for practitioners, researchers, and policymakers. It offers an accessible yet authentic invitation to experience wellness beyond the physical body—reaching into the mental, emotional, and spiritual dimensions of health and reminds us that healing is more than the elimination of disease - it is the restoration of wholeness."

— Professor Rajeev Gupta, MBBS, MD, MRCP, FRCPCH, MBA

"This is not just an informative documentary on Qi, Qigong, and Tai Chi, it is a stunning transcendent experience of blissful beauty. The most amazing words of wisdom from the most knowledgeable luminaries in the most exquisitely gorgeous spaces on the planet. You don't just watch it, you drink it in. A must-see!"

— CJ Rhodes, Health, Prosperity, & Leadership Institute, Professor in the College of Business at Kutztown University

"I was deeply moved after watching Quantum Qi: The Taoist Art of Nurturing Life. The film is a true work of art—set against breathtaking landscapes... As a longtime practitioner, watching it felt less like viewing a film and more like embarking on a spiritual journey."

— Violet Li, Journalist, 12th Generation Chen Tai Chi Inheritor

"This exquisite film with its amazing images and its wondrous accompanying music is captivating —full of techniques, knowledge, practices and ways that we can all appreciate and embody the power of Qi to lead happier, healthier lives. The ancient, meditative wisdom that is purveyed by this film combines with modern scientific understandings of quantum physics to make "Quantum Qi" vital for all of us to experience in these extraordinary times."

~ Andi & Jonathan Goldman, Award Winning Authors of "Chakra Frequencies" and "The Humming Effect"

"The Tao embodies the essence of traditional Chinese culture, blending the heavenly sounds of the erhu and zhonghu with Taoist wellness philosophy. This harmonious fusion creates a truly exquisite and healing cinematic experience, captivating audiences worldwide."

— Xiaogu Zhu, Composer and Professor, Shanghai Conservatory of Music

"Sharron Rose's careful, well thought-out direction and Jiebing Chen's exquisite erhu playing highlight this hypnotically contemplative, and deeply spiritual, music video. With a guided meditation style spoken text by Dr. Ama Lia Wai-Ching, whether you are familiar with the genre or just curious, The Tao is a lovely way to spend a few minutes of your day or night with."

— Michael A. Levine, Award-winning American Composer and Screenwriter

"Beautiful."

— Mirette Seireg Ohman, CEO of Mpath, the Only Production Music Company in the World with a Gender-balanced Roster of Composers

"Although I do not claim deep expertise in the concepts of Dao and Qi, I was truly moved by The Tao. The way this short film translates such profound philosophy into music and image is extraordinary. The fusion of natural beauty, lyrical text, and meditative music—especially the expressive use of the erhu and zhonghu—creates a sense of stillness and spiritual clarity that is both accessible and deeply touching. This is a rare and beautiful achievement."

— Chen Gang (Steel Chen), Chinese Composer, Best Known for Butterfly Lovers' Violin Concerto

"I am truly moved by the sheer beauty of Sharron Rose's 'The Tao: Music Video' which is the interlude from the documentary 'Quantum Qi'. Masterfully executed, from the music, cinematography, and overall production value, this piece sets a high bar for films of this genre as it transcends 'genres' by both entertaining and healing."

— Darryl Swann, Grammy Award-winning Record Producer, UCLA Professor
